ALPHA 2 EQ - YOUR HORSE HEALING ITSELF

The Alpha2 EQ processing and filtration system utilises a unique alpha-2-macroglobulin technology. Alpha2 EQ is a safe and effective orthobiologic (a method of using products from within the body to repair itself) with many different applications and uses - from Lameness to Asthma.

The Alpha2EQ filtration process, concentrates certain proteins from within the horse's own blood, leaving a solution full of an isolated 'alpha-2-macroglobulin molecule'. But we hear you saying what is an "alpha-2-macroglobulin molecule?"

Alpha-2-macroglobulin is a potent anti-inflammatory molecule which is a naturally occurring protein within the blood. The molecule has the ability to block the destructive effect of certain enzymes by capturing them in a "trap" and rendering them as ineffective. When you get inflammation within the body due to disease, trauma or even natural "wear and tear" these destructive enzymes cause pain and in many instances lameness. By removing the destructive enzymes and you potentially remove the pain.
