ALPHA2EQ®

WE ARE DELIGHTED TO PROVIDE A CUTTING EDGE ORTHOBIOLOGIC TREATMENT FOR MANY DIFFERENT APPLICATIONS AND USES – FROM LAMENESS TO ASTHMA!

The Alpha2EQ® processing and filtration system utilises a unique alpha-2-macroglobulin technology. It is a safe and effective treatment and could be used for a variety of conditions and for all type of horses; from performance horses during competition season to older ponies with underlying conditions (such as Equine Metabolic Syndrome) where use of corticosteroids carries a laminitis risk.

Alpha2EQ® is an orthobiologic which means it can be produced by a horse's own blood and can be used in all joints to target degenerative joint disease or arthritis and soft tissue injuries such as flexor tendons or suspensory ligaments. Horses and ponies that suffer with asthma, could also be benefited by this treatment. It is laminitis-risk free and it does not have a competition withdrawal time.

FAREWELL TO REMI

Remi has now moved onto new ventures and we wish her all the best in her future career. Remi was a great addition to our team whilst completing her internship and we know that many of our clients will miss her enthusiastic and vibrant character.

CAREERS DAY

Last week Ricky & Chloe represented Farr & Pursey at a local secondary school careers day. Inspiring the next generation of veterinary professionals.

Promoting the veterinary industry is key in sustaining the future service for our beloved horses and pets.

They discussed not only becoming a veterinary surgeon but the many other roles within the profession such as veterinary nursing, SQP/RAMA's, receptionist, clinical aids and practice mangement to just name a few. We hope that the day encouraged students to consider a career in the veterinary world.
